Iowa republicans are in raptures over the aid extended by Congress man "Pete" Hepburn to the president in the matter of railway way rate legislation. Hepburn's "aid" consisted in helping force a bill through the house which was so clearly unconstitutional that even the president disowned it.

A speaker at the Missouri democratic convention said that when he saw Grover Cleveland speak in Bryan from the rear end of a box in Missouri he would forgive the president and take back all the harsh things he had ever said about him. God, that man must have an awful mean disposition.

The fact that a hold-up man found a report of his in Ogden with $750 on his person was liable to make a whole lot of us think Ogden the best town in the world for newspaper men. Unfortunately a careful reading of the report showed that the money did not belong to the reporter.

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat thinks that "about the time the Democrats elect a president Walter Wellman will hit the north pole." Our Missouri contemporary must be pretty sanguine of the success of the Wellman expedition.

The Chicago packers are not alone in trying to force down the throats of the people considerable more than the pack of dirt which each one is supposed to consume during a life time.

Owners of automobiles may at least congratulate themselves on the fact that their cars are not "rotting their heads on" while they stand idle in the barns. It has been suggested that the carcass of each animal slaughtered be dipped in the Chicago river before being shipped to the consumer.

A democratic governor of Oregon will come in handy in case the republican senators die or get tangled up with the federal grand jury.

Speaking on "Democracy" before a joint session of the Mississippi legislature recently, Alton B. Parker, democratic candidate for the presidency in 1904 among other things said: "Every serious evil with which our society is now either afflicted or threatened has grown out of the abuse of the taxing power of the government. After the adoption of the protective policy, all at once with a growth like Jonah's gourd, came individual fortunes, amounting to hundreds of millions of dollars the product of a few years' devotion to a single industry in which (by its laws the government has doubled or trebled the value of the wares before they reach the consumer. The system thus established is kept in power by a powerful lobby and by shameless purchase of votes."
